PRIVACY POLICY

GLOBAL ASSESSOR POOL, LLC, dba Pinsight® (“Pinsight” or “we” or “us”) is committed to protecting your privacy. We prepared this Privacy Policy to describe our practices regarding the personal information we collect in connection with our websites that link to this Privacy Policy, including <http://www.pinsight.com>, <https://www.leaderhabit.com/> and <https://app.pinsight.com/>, our mobile applications, our emails and other communications, and our related services (collectively, the “Services”).

1. Information we collect

We collect information directly from you, when you access our websites and related services, from 3rd parties, and automatically when you access or use our Services.

Information you give us

We collect information from you when you provide it to us, such as when you become a Pinsight user as an account owner or admin, as an assessor, as a stakeholder, or as a participant in the Pinsight Platform, and/or The Pinsight App. We collect this information when you create or change your profile information including your contact information, time zone, profile picture, and your notification preferences.

We may also collect information you provide to us when you enroll in a webinar, request a demo, participate in an online chat, or subscribe to our newsletter. For example, when you request a demo, we must have your contact information, so we can contact you to schedule the demo.

Information collected when you use our services

When you use the Pinsight Platform, we record all the actions you take. If you are an administrator, we record who you invite to assessments and who you share reports with. If you are participating in a Pinsight assessment as an assessor, we record any video and/or audio sessions you participate in, the scores you assign, and when you log in and out of the platform. If you are participating in a Pinsight assessment as a participant, we collect and store all of the emails and file attachments that you send during the pre-work stage and the live simulation. We also record and save voice mail messages you leave, calendar appointments you make, online chats and video and/or audio sessions you participate in. Trained assessors use this information to score your performance on a variety of exercises. These scores are recorded and used to create a report on your performance. If you have access to the Pinsight App, we record usage data, for example, when you log into your account, when you complete an exercise, comments you enter, and improvement over time.

Information collected from others

We may receive information about you from others. For example, if you are participating in an assessment at the request of one of our clients, we may receive your contact information from our client so that we can invite you to become a Pinsight user. After accepting an invitation, you will be able to update your profile and make changes to your personal information.

We may also collect data from companies contracted by us to provide add-on services to our platform.

Information Collected automatically

Pinsight, our service providers, and our advertising partners may automatically log information about you, your computer, or your mobile device, and your activity over time on our Services and other sites and online services. Device information that we collect may include browser type, operating system, wireless carrier, manufacturer and model, screen resolution, Internet Protocol (IP) address, and general location information. We may also collect activity and navigational data automatically, such as the date and time and duration of your visit, what you searched for, the website you visited before browsing to the Services, how long you spent on a page or screen, navigation paths between pages or screens, information about your activity on a page or screen, and the pages or screens you viewed.

Like most Internet services, we automatically gather this information and store it in log files each time you visit our website or access your account on our network. We also use cookies and similar technologies to facilitate some of our automatic data collection, such as:

- Cookies, which are small pieces of information that a website sends to your computer's hard drive while you are viewing a web site. Cookies help to uniquely identify the visitor's browser or to store information or settings in the browser for the purpose of helping you navigate between pages efficiently, remembering your preferences, enabling functionality, helping us understand user activity and patterns, and facilitating online advertising. We may use both session Cookies (which expire once you close your web browser) and persistent Cookies (which stay on your computer until you delete them) to provide you with a more personal and interactive experience on our website. Persistent Cookies can be removed by following Internet browser help file directions. If you choose to disable Cookies, some areas of our website or service may not work properly.
- Flash cookies, or locally stored objects, which are used on websites for purposes similar to cookies but allow storage of a larger amount of data.
- Web beacons, also known as pixel tags or clear GIFs, which are typically used to demonstrate that a webpage or email was accessed or opened, or that certain content was viewed or clicked, typically to compile statistics about usage of websites and the success of marketing campaigns.
- Local storage, which is used to save data on a visitor's device. We use data from local storage to turn on web navigation, customize what we show you based on your past interactions with our services, remember your preferences, and measure ad effectiveness.
- Session-replay technologies, which are third-party software used to record a video replay of users' interactions with the Services. The video replay may include users' clicks, mouse movements, scrolls, mobile app touches, typing, and other activity taken during the session. We use these replays for research and development purposes, such as to help us troubleshoot problems with the Services, understand how users interact with and use the Services, and identify areas for improvement.

- Software development kits, or SDKs, are third-party computer codes used in connection with our App for a variety of purposes, including to provide us with analytics regarding the use of our App, to add features or functionality to our App, or to facilitate online advertising. SDKs may enable third parties to collect information directly via our App.

The LinkedIn browser cookie is stored in a user's browser until a user deletes the cookie or the cookie expires (there's a rolling six-month expiration from the last time the user's browser loaded the Insight Tag). Users have full control to block or delete cookies.

We use the Google Ads remarketing tag (tracking cookie) on every page of our Pinsight.com website. The Google Ads remarketing service allows us to re-target advertisements to previous website visitors on third-party sites, including the Google search results page and websites in the Google Display Network. Google uses cookies to serve ads based on the website visitor's past visits to Pinsight.com. Any data collected will be used in accordance with our own and Google's privacy policy. The collected data does not personally or directly identify the website visitor.
